The Impossibly Possible Bookshop

By Kat Pennington

Hello, my name is Treerumple. This book is all about when a boy called Sammy came to visit me in my special Tree Goblin world. I am going to guide you through this booklet and, at the end, I would love to read your magical stories.

Listen to an audio recording of this story here:

The Impossibly Possible Bookshop

"Come on, Sammy," shouted his Grandmama from downstairs in the kitchen. "It's time for us to go into town. I need to post a parcel and ... don't forget your umbrella!"

Ten minutes later, Sammy and his Grandmama were walking through the puddle-patched streets of the nearby town. "Wait here, I won't be a moment!" instructed his Grandmama as she darted into the post office. Sammy waited. It seemed like his Grandmama was taking an extraordinarily long time.

Out of the corner of his eye, Sammy spotted the most unusual of shops. It was a bookshop. Now you may be thinking that there isn't anything unusual about a bookshop but this bookshop was not like one he had ever seen before – it was tiny and sandwiched between a large restaurant and a shop selling shiny, new bicycles. No-one seemed to notice the bookshop. Everyone just walked past it like it was invisible.

Gripped by curiosity, Sammy began to walk towards the tiny door of the tiny bookshop. As Sammy approached the shop, he noticed small intricate lanterns hanging around the edge of the roof, puffs of peculiar smoke drifting out of the tall, thin chimney stack and thick, aggressive ivy covering the stone walls and windows.

Sammy approached the door which didn't have a knocker or a bell. Instead, it had a note which read:

With a quick glance back towards the post office, Sammy pushed the shop's door and, to his surprise, it opened slightly. With his heart pounding, he pushed the door harder. It opened more so he stooped down low and went inside.

To his amazement, the bookshop was huge inside - really huge. It was dimly lit and everything was covered in a fine film of dust. The shop was crammed with books from floor to ceiling. Books of every colour, type and size imaginable. Books about far off lands and fantastic finds. Sammy began to explore and it wasn't long before a book, perched precariously on a high shelf, caught his eye. Taking a deep breath, Sammy climbed a nearby rickety ladder, grabbed the book and carried it to a corner of the shop where an oil lamp burned slowly. He stroked the dust off the front cover and read the gold embossed title: Tree Goblins.

Suddenly, a low voice emerged from the darkness, "I wouldn't open that book if I were you," it said. Sammy spun round and saw in the corner a disheveled, old man sat in a large leather-bound, red chair. His head was buried in a book and, looking up from his half-moon spectacles, he continued: "Strange things live in these 'ere books - go home and don't come back if you know what's good for you." Sammy paused for the briefest of seconds, then carefully ignoring the man, opened the book.

In the blink of an eye, Sammy found himself inside the trunk of a large tree. Colourful balloons, bunting and banners decorated the room and loud music, that made you want to dance, filled the warm air.

All around the room, small, strange-looking people, wearing brown tweed dungarees covered in toadstools, leaves and roses, danced and sang with great gusto and joy. Their large pointy ears were hidden slightly by their bushy multi-coloured hair and curly-toed velvet shoes hid their enormous, hairy feet. Around their necks each one wore a necklace covered in the most interesting of charms and trinkets.

In the middle of the room, a magnificent feast was laid out on a large woven willow table. There were pinecone truffles, sweet sap sorbets, nettle fritters and the finest pollen-puddings. In the centre was an enormous cake covered in long-grass icing and, on the top, over a hundred candles burned brightly. It was a glorious scene and Sammy soon realised that he was in the middle of a birthday party, but not like one he had ever experienced before!

"Hello," came a small voice. Sammy looked down to see one of the strange people smiling up at him. "Hello," replied Sammy.

"My name is Treerumple and I am a tree goblin here in Moon Glen - who are you?"

"My name is Sammy and I am ... well ... a boy!"

"Will you stay for the party? It's Treegruttle's 203rd birthday!"

Sammy wasted no time in accepting the invitation and spent what seemed like hours dancing, eating and singing with the Tree Goblins.

Before long, the sun began to set and Sammy knew that he should return home. He thanked the tree goblins for the wonderful time that he had had and explained that he needed to get home to his Grandmama. As a thank you for visiting them, Treerumple handed him his necklace: "Look after this for me; never forget us!"

"Forget you? That's impossible!" replied Sammy and, with that, he opened the book once more and returned back to the shop.

The disheveled man hadn't seemed to move and as Sammy said goodbye and thankyou to him, he simply muttered: "Hmph, no one will believe your impossible story."

Outside the shop, Sammy saw his Grandmama just come out of the post office. It was like no time had passed at all. "Ahh, there you are!" she said beckoning him over for one of her special cuddles whilst putting up her umbrella.

"Grandmama?" Sammy asked.

"Yes, my dear ... ?"

"Can we come back to tomorrow?"

His Grandmama winked, looked over to the bookshop and replied: "We'll see ... anything's possible."

Let's chat about the story

What do you think of the story? Let's have a chat about it together. Answer these questions. You can write the answers down if you like or just discuss it with someone. Record your thoughts here:

Likes: What were your favourite bits of the story?	Dislikes: Was there anything you didn't like, didn't understand or would want to change?
Parallels: Does this story remind you of any other books or films that you have read or seen?	Questions: Do you have any questions about the story?

True or false quiz!

Hello! Treerumple here again, fancy doing my quiz? It is all about the story that you have just read. I find it helpful to read the story a few times. Why not circle or highlight the story where you find the answer? If you get really stuck, the answers are at the back of this booklet. Good luck!

Name 3 (or more) things that Sammy noticed about the bookshop.

What was the title of the book he picked up and where was it?

Can you name 5 (or more) things that Sammy saw when he entered the birthday party?

Whose birthday party was it and how old was he?

What did Treerumple give Sammy as a gift?

Why did Sammy's Grandmama want to visit the town?

Here are four more questions which I am not sure of the answer to so I need your help as a text detective. Can you find any clues in the story to help you? What do you think the answers are and why?

- 1) Why do you think the title of the story is called: The Impossibly Possible Bookshop?
- 2) Do you think Sammy is adventurous? Explain your answer.
- 3) When Sammy returns to the bookshop and meets his Grandmama, it seems as though no time has passed at all. Why do you think this is?
- 4) At the end of the story, Sammy's Grandmama says: "We'll see ... anything is possible." Why do you think she says this?

What happened when?

Can you make a comic strip of key parts of the story? Put the sentences below into the correct boxes and draw a picture above to match. The first sentence has been done for you but it still needs its picture.

Sammy and his Grandmama go into the nearby town.

- Sammy is given a gift and returns home.
- Sammy says thankyou to the man in the bookshop.
- Sammy joins in with the Tree Goblin birthday celebrations.
- ✓ Sammy and his Grandmama go into the nearby town.
- Sammy meets Treerumple the goblin.
- Sammy enters a tiny bookshop.

Wonderful Words

Often in stories there are some words which we do not know the meaning of. Can you match these words to their correct definition? Psst ... the answers are at the back of this booklet but try not to look unless you get stuck.

extraordinary	poorly made and likely to break unusual	rough woollen cloth: lots of clothes, especially trousers and waistcoats, are made from this curiosity	something that is very unusual or remarkable - more than just being ordinary intricate	when something is not secure and is likely to fall or collapse peculiar	something that is different, doesn't always happen or is a bit out of the ordinary insignificant	untidy
precariously	when you really want to know or learn something
rickety	something that a bit strange, odd or different than normal
embossed	small ornament or a little piece of jewellery which is often not very expensive disheveled	complicated or detailed tweed	carved or stamped into something
trinkets	small or not important

Are there any other words you are not sure of? Record them here and ask an adult if you can or use the internet or look in a dictionary if you have one.

Now choose 5 words from the collection above and write them in your own sentence. I have done two examples for you:

insignificant

The little mouse seemed insignificant to the other animals.

intricate

An old lady, with an intricate necklace, walked into the shop.

Characters

This book is all about a boy who finds a new world filled with Tree Goblins but did you know that there are lots of different types of goblins in the world? When you write your story, your character could meet a different type of goblin.

- * Let's make a list of the goblins that could be in your story. To help create a goblin I like to use weather, nature or places to help me but you may have your own amazing ideas.
- * Record your ideas for different types of Goblins here – I have started you off with some names:

Now choose 3 of your favourite ideas and draw the goblins in the picture frames below. Can you write 5 facts that everyone should know about them? I have done an example using the Tree Goblins for you.

5 Tree Goblin Key Facts

- 1) Tree Goblins can only be found in evergreen trees (trees that do not lose their leaves in winter). The bigger the tree that they live in, the bigger the goblin that lives there.
- 2) Tree Goblins are vegetarian.
- 3) They do not get on with Bog Goblins - for centuries they have been arch enemies.
- 4) Tree Goblins can sleep for up to 14 hours a day and snore loudly.
- 5) They are not good pets due to their untidiness but they are very friendly.

Settings

In the story, Sammy enters a Tree Goblin birthday party. Highlight all of the things that Sammy can see.

In the blink of an eye, Sammy found himself inside the trunk of a large tree. Colourful balloons, bunting and banners decorated the room and loud music, that made you want to dance, filled the warm air.

All around the room small, strange-looking people, wearing brown tweed dungarees covered in toadstools, leaves and roses, danced and sang with great gusto and joy. Their large pointy ears were hidden slightly by their bushy multi-coloured hair and curly-toed velvet shoes hid their enormous, hairy feet. Around their necks each one wore a necklace covered in the most interesting of charms and trinkets.

In the middle of the room, a magnificent feast was laid out on a large woven willow table. There were pinecone truffles, sweet sap sorbets, nettle fritters and the finest pollen-puddings. In the centre was an enormous cake covered in long-grass icing and on the top over a hundred candles burned brightly.

Can you draw a picture of the goblin birthday party below and label it with all of the things that Sammy can see?

Word work - prepositions

When writing about settings, you often want to tell the reader where things are and this is where prepositions are really useful. Look at these prepositions and prepositional phrases: in the middle, next to, under, above, below and inside.

* Here are some sentences from the story. Circle all of the prepositions you can find. (Watch out! Some sentences have more than one preposition.) The answers are at the back of the booklet.

- 1) Sammy began to explore and it wasn't long before a book, perched precariously on a high shelf, caught his eye.
- 2) Sammy found himself inside the trunk of a large tree.
- 3) In the middle of the room, a magnificent feast was laid out on a large woven willow table.
- 4) In the centre was an enormous cake covered in rainbow icing and on the top over a hundred candles burned brightly.

Now you have a go... can you write 3 sentences that includes a preposition?

Poetry

Read Pie Corbett's poem: 'Six things found in a Hobbit's knapsack'.

Six things found in a Hobbit's Knapsack

A wasp's sting to startle unwary goblins.

Two leather-bound books. One titled, 'Tunnel digging for beginners' and the other, 'Wolves and methods for their avoidance'.

A purse of never-ending wishes.

A pot of gold found at the end of a rainbow.

A pair of twelve-league boots.

A fur-lined cape, the colour of rock, for keeping warm in the winter and using as camouflage.

Using what you have made, now write a similar poem? Can you add illustrations? You can have more than six things.

Let's start to create and plan your story

To do this, let's look at the structure of The Impossibly Possible Bookshop.

Story Ideas

If you're stuck on some story ideas why not try one of these (or do all of them and write your own series of adventure stories):

Story idea 1: Add to

You could retell or rewrite The Impossibly Possible Bookshop but add in a few more extra details e.g. more description about the man in the bookshop, the party or what the tree looked like.

Story idea 2: Sequel (follow up)

Sammy returns the next day and chooses a different book called Tralls or Monsters or Pixies or Thunder Goblins.

Your title could be: The Impossibly Possible Bookshop, The Land of the ??????

Story idea 3: Disaster

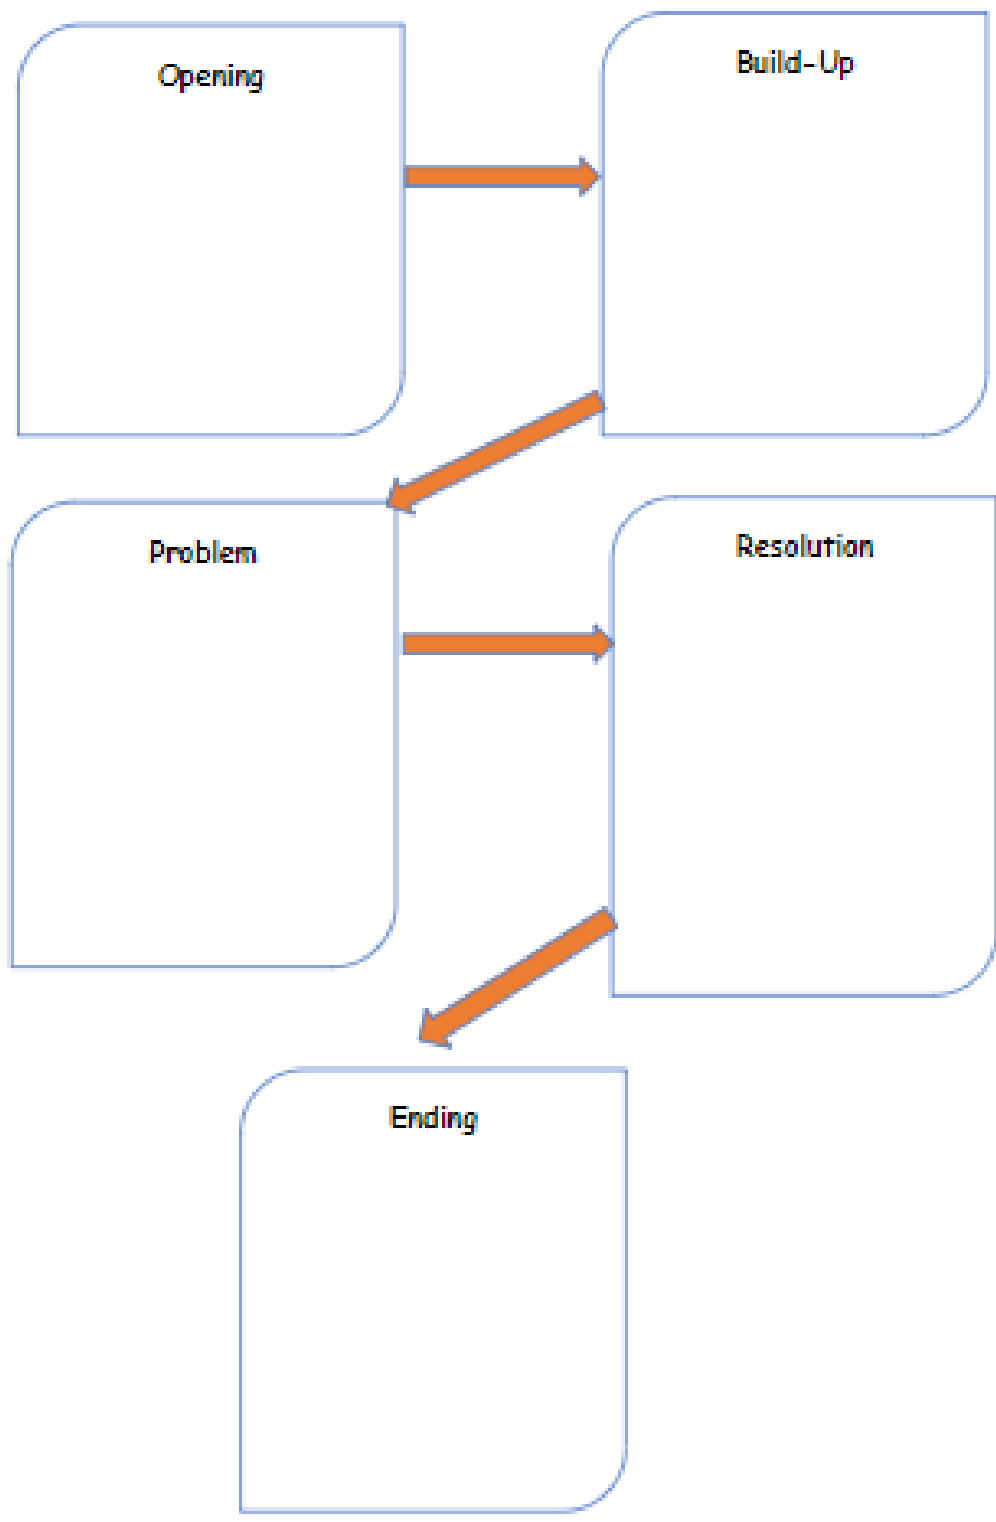

Use the same structure but something bad happens in the middle, for example, the main character encounters some sort of problem like a grumpy ogre who wants to capture them and they have to escape.

Story idea 4: Stowaway

Use the same idea but what if, at the end, the main character realises that one of the characters from the other world has hidden in their pocket and come back to their world with them.

Let's get writing

Now you are ready to write. Get a piece of paper and a pen or pencil and write your story. It may take a few attempts to get a story that you are really happy with. Don't worry about this as it is called drafting and editing and is a very important part of the writing process.

Can you illustrate your story and maybe add in a menu or recipe?
See you at the other end - can't wait to read it!
