Task 1

A poem about the zoo to learn this week.

Can you perform it first with the words and then without the words.

I dreamed I went to the zoo
one day.

All the animals came out to play.

There were

Ten whales whistling,

Nine hippos hopping,

Eight monkeys marching,

Seven lions laughing,

Six snakes skipping,

Five donkeys dancing,

Four crocodiles clapping,
Three rhinos roaring,
Two giraffes giggling
And one seal snoring!

Task 2

Look at the poem again. Spot all the number words.

Practise spelling them.

How many words can you find with the 'ing' suffix? e.g. jumping. Write them down and think of some more of your own.

Task 3 and 4

Read the story below about a fox and crow and answer the questions.

“Crows are not very good at singing,”
said the crow to himself.
“But if this fox wants me to sing for him, I will!”

The crow started to sing –
and the lump of cheese fell out of his mouth!
It landed on the ground.
Quick as a flash, the fox snapped it up.
Then he grinned at the foolish crow,
and went on his way.

8 What does the crow say he is not good at?

_____

9 The cheese landed:    on the ground                       in the tree
   in a pond                       next to the crow

10 The:                                      crow                                       horse hen                                       fox snapped up the cheese.

11 The fox:                                      hissed                                       grinned shouted                                       looked at the crow.
